

Foxbat

FOR PRESIDENT

His policy is completely debatable...

His methods are completely incomprehensible...

His platform is made of plywood, and supported by metal rods, like many others before it, and has a nice podium with a microphone in the middle...

Vote Foxbat!

When you're tired of the other crazies...

Why vote for a crook,
when you can vote for a SUPER crook?

CALL TO ACTION

Please, send your unused Experience Points to Foxbat. With your help, he can gain enough power to become President of the United States.

Yes, I plan to vote for Foxbat

No, I'm some kind of idiot

Make America Fun Again!

---

www.blackwyrn.com

PLATFORM

My Fellow Americans!

Thanks to a series of fortuitous circumstances, I, The Mighty Foxbat, am running for the office of President. I will not make any promises of any sort. I will promise only to make our country better, to the best of my ability. You may think this is my latest scheme to conquer the world, but it really isn't. I assure you, my motives in achieving the highest office of the land are entirely pure.

My plan, people of America, is simple. Many Americans have lost the love of their country because, quite frankly, they don't enjoy living in it anymore. We're going to bring light in the darkness. We will have neighborliness and as much fair treatment as is possible, assuming that you can see past my Foxbat Mask, Foxbat Cape, and Dreaded Ping Pong Ball Gun.

I don't have a Foxbat Cape. Never mind. We'll put that up to a senate vote later. I know many of the people of America have a tendency to vote with their wallets, so we'll try to focus on fixing the economy of America the only way that I know how. We will cut the salaries of politicians everywhere! We will increase taxes on the top ten percent of American Incomes to a whopping fifty percent! If I can build a Centipedemobile on a shoestring budget and make it work, you can live without a diamond studded lawn chair!

Don't think of me as a Robin Hood figure! I'm not! But if the people have selected me, The Mighty Foxbat, to run for the highest office in the land, how can I possibly refuse? It is a great calling, a once in a lifetime opportunity. And I shall not shirk this responsibility.

ACHIEVEMENTS

- Owns every issue of Justice Squadron.
- Can recite every episode of Gilligan's Island.
- Invented numerous Foxbat gadgets, notably the Amazing Ping Pong Ball Gun
- Earned a black belt in generic martial arts
- Can FLY! Okay, glide.
- Took second place in the Great Foxbat Lookalike Contest, two years running
- Master Plan

TESTIMONIALS

Tito Jankowitz, Newspaper Publisher: One, Foxbat sells newspapers. Two, He can't be worse than the last few guys who have held the office. Three, He doesn't belong to either of the established big parties. Four, At least he's not pretending to be something he's not. Foxbat is still Foxbat.

Marion Zimmer, Soccer Mom: My children aren't having enough fun in life because all the big political parties send all the wrong messages to children. I hope that Foxbat will indeed make America more fun, and that the world will not laugh too much at the loony villain and his somewhat comical staff.

Randolph "Big Pain" Meachum, Professional Wrestler: I taught Foxbat a few moves back in the day. He saved me from people who thought I owed them money, so that's gotta be worth a few votes, eh, wrestling fans? You are wrestling fans, aren't you?